

GERMANY ACTS UPON SUGGESTION OF HARDING

REDUCE RATES TO LA CROSSE FROM THE EAST

Important Freight Rate Case
Heard Last June is Decided
by Interstate Commerce Commission

AFFECTS HIGH CLASS TARIFFS
FROM THE EASTERN TERRITORY

Traffic Bureau of Chamber of Commerce Wins Hard
Fought Case

A reduction averaging seven cents
a hundred pounds on rates for freight
of the higher classes from eastern and central points to La Crosse, was ordered today by the interstate commerce commission, effective August 1, according to an Associated Press dispatch from Washington at noon.
Commodity rates are not affected.

The decision of the interstate commerce commission in this case, which was heard here last June, is a victory
for the traffic bureau of the Chamber of Commerce and marks the end of a long fight against high freight rates
which discriminated against La Crosse
in favor of Dubuque, St. Paul, Chicago and Milwaukee. Traffic Commissioner W. W. West of the Chamber of Commerce appeared for that organization.

Jobbers and manufacturers of sheet
metal building material, hardware,
groceries, agricultural implements,
furniture, clothing and other commodities testified as to their competition with Dubuque and their inability to reach points even on an equality
with their competitors. "The report of the examiner who heard the case
here recommended that the commission find that the class rates
from New York to La Crosse
are unreasonable and unduly prejudicial to the extent that they exceed increases granted to railroads running
to other cities in this territory."

ARGENTINA AID TO COLOMBIA ON TREATY WITH U. S.

BUENOS AIRES.—It is reported
here that Argentina used its good offices to help secure the ratification
of the Colombian treaty by the United States senate. The rumor was strengthened by a visit of the Columbian minister here to the Columbian foreign minister at which the Columbian minister said he wished to take advantage of the opportunity offered by the United States senate's ratification of the Colombian treaty
to express Colombia's appreciation for Argentina's good will toward the wishes and aspirations of Colombia.
It is understood the Argentine ambassador at Washington recently took
the question up with the white house
under instruction from the foreign ministry.

BLAINE PROCLAMATION DESIGNATES MAY SIXTH AS ARBOR AND BIRD DAY

MADISON, Wis.—Arbor and Bird Day has been set as May 6 by Governor John J. Blaine in a proclamation to the people of the state.
He asks that children in the schools observe the day with appropriate exercises. The governor's proclamation follows:

The state of Wisconsin has for many years maintained a beautiful custom of setting apart a certain day in spring for the purpose of calling to the attention of her people the uses and beauties of nature.
Therefore, I, John J. Blaine, governor of the state of Wisconsin, do hereby name Friday, the sixth day of May, 1921, Arbor and Bird
Day to be observed throughout the state of Wisconsin by the children in her schools with appropriate exercises, and with the hope that it will renew once more the interest of those who have passed their school days in the green fields, the running brooks, and the wild life of the great outdoors.

May it instill a deep appreciation of our birds, our flowers, and our trees; may it inspire a love to cultivate these and understand them more fully, and above all, may it awaken a keen enthusiasm to preserve them from destruction.

To those who have lost a loved one, let me suggest that each and every one will plant a tree on this day to be a living and growing memorial to the memory of the cherished one who has departed.
(Signed) JOHN J. BLAINE.

NICKEL IN SLOT PHONE STATIONS TO BE OPPOSED

City Attorney Swennes Against Petition of Local Company
for New Order

MAINTAINS IT IS EXTRA TAX
ON SUBSCRIBERS OF COMPANY

Petition Before Railroad Commission of Wisconsin

City Attorney Oscar J. Swennes announced today he would oppose an application of the La Crosse Telephone company for permission to install nickel-in-the-slot pay telephone stations in places patronized by the public.

Following the receipt of notification that the company had applied to the railroad commission of Wisconsin
for an order permitting the installation of the pay stations in stores and other places, Mr. Swennes wrote the state board asking that the hearing
be held in La Crosse, and at the same time announced his plan to oppose the petition.

"My contention is that the pay stations serve only as an additional tax upon local persons who are paying for residence and business telephones on the monthly basis," said Mr. Swennes. "Transients and non-subscribers using the telephones down town are decidedly in the minority."
Following is the official announcement from the railroad commission
of the petition of the local company:

"Whereas, the La Crosse Telephone company did on April 16, 1921, file
with this commission a proposed rule covering the installation of nickel-in-
the-slot machines as follows:
"Where subscriber's premises offer
or become a place in which the public is allowed the privilege of using the telephone, the telephone company
reserves the right to install and maintain a nickel-in-the-slot machine for the use of those who are not members of the subscriber's family or are his employees, with a commission to the subscriber of 20 per cent on local and 10 per cent on long distance collections where the subscriber also rents
a telephone for the use of his family or employees on the same premises at the regular rates on file. When subscriber does not rent his own telephone no commission shall be paid
unless the monthly collections equal
a regular monthly rate for single line
business telephone."
"Whereas, this commission is of the opinion that a formal investigation and hearing should be had with reference to this rule:

"Now, therefore, notice is hereby given that after the expiration of ten days from the date of the service of this notice upon you the undersigned will proceed to investigate the matters and things set forth in said complaint."

"Dated at Madison, Wis., this 21st
day of April, 1921."

"RAILROAD COMMISSION OF WISCONSIN
C. D. Secheverell, Secretary."

NINE INDICTED FOR LYNCHING OF NEGRO

CAMILLA, Ga.—Nine indictments
have been returned by the county
grand jury in connection with the lynching last January of Jim Roland, lynching in the state under what is known as the "mob violence act." All of the indicted men except two have been released on $10,000 bond to be tried
next week.
Roland was shot and killed by a mob after he had shot and seriously injured Jason Tharrell, while, after witnesses testified, he tried to make Roland dance for him.

OSWALD R. ROELLIG'S FUNERAL SERVICES ARE HELD SATURDAY

Rites Held at Home, 1423 Badger
Street; Dies of Illness
Following Flu

The funeral of Oswald R. Roellig, who died last Thursday at the home
of his mother, 1423 Badger street,
was held this afternoon at the family
home. The Rev. J. T. Gamm officiated.
Mr. Roellig was born July 12, 1884. He died after an illness of five months, caused by an attack of the flu a year ago. Mr. Roellig was service manager of the Minot Auto
company of Minot, N. D. On September 2, 1907, he married Miss Mabel Hall at Mondak, Mont. He is survived by his wife, mother, five sisters and three brothers. Mr. Roellig was past chancellor commander of the Knights of Pythias of Minot and exalted ruler of the Elks lodge, No. 1089
of Minot.

GOPHERS TO URGE CHANGES IN U. S. GRAIN STANDARDS

ST. PAUL, Minn.—A committee of the Minnesota legislature accompanied by L. E. Potter, president of the Minnesota farm bureau federation,
will leave for Washington Saturday to argue for changes in the federal grain standards in the hearing
to be conducted by the federal bureau
of markets.

If the bureau declines to make changes in federal grain rates as asked by the farmers of the northwest,
Mr. Potter said, the Minnesota board of grain appeals is under instruction
from the legislature to restore state
grain grades in force before the establishment of present federal grades.

LEGISLATIVE BILLS TO BE CONSIDERED

Bills relating to "state-wide censorship of motion pictures" and
"to a union of the industrial and day school boards of education,"
and others will be considered at the citizens' meeting Saturday night at 7:30 in the hall for the study of bills being introduced at the state legislature.

HENNING REPORTS HARDING MAY ASK NEW RAIL MEASURE

Chicago Tribune Declares Revision of Esch Bill Chief Topic
of Cabinet Session Friday

QUESTION DIVISION OF AUTHORITY UNDER ACT

Rates Set by I. C. C. But Wages
by Rail Labor Board

That the Harding administration
may be contemplating considerable revision of the Esch-Cummings bill in order to permit a reduction of freight rates is indicated by a Washington dispatch to the Chicago Tribune, an administration paper, in which Arthur Sears Henning, the Tribune's Washington correspondent, reports that the matter was the topic of Friday's cabinet meeting.

The Henning dispatch follows:
WASHINGTON, D. C.—Whether
the Esch-Cummings transportation act
is working to the best interest of the country or needs radical revision is a question brought to the fore in the meeting of President Harding with his cabinet Friday.

The cabinet again discussed ways
and means of getting the country
"back to normalcy," which Mr. Harding is beginning to realize is about
the biggest job any president ever tackled.
With the farmers complaining of marketing products at a loss, manufacturers shattering production, and all blaming high transportation rates
in large part for business depression,
the president and his advisers are still inclined to regard the relief of the railroads the key of the solution of the whole problem.

Pinch Easy to Find, Not to Relieve.
Consequently the railroad question
was chiefly discussed in the cabinet
meeting, but without any tangible result save the airing of many views.
The president reiterated his conviction
that a reduction of rail rates
would revive business, but how to get the rates reduced is a question that puzzles the executive.

It is apparent that the solution of the railroad problem by the appointed agencies of law means a long drawn out process, which is beginning to breed doubts of the wisdom of the Esch-Cummings transportation act.

A Wheel Within a Wheel

Under this law the interstate commerce commission must maintain rates
that provide a guaranteed return of 6 per cent to the railroads. Until operating costs are reduced the commission cannot reduce rates, unless it should be demonstrated that increased traffic produced by such reduction would increase revenue. The big item in operating costs is wages, over which the labor board has independent jurisdiction. The labor board bases wages on living costs, not on railroad earnings.
Whether this diversity of supervision is largely to blame for the difficulty in effecting speedy relief of the railroads is a question beginning to claim attention and one on which the forthcoming investigation of the railroad situation under the Cummins revision is expected to throw some light. It is possible that another overhauling of the transportation law
may be found necessary.

Some Effects of High Rates?

The president has been impressed by statements that consumers are not buying coal because freight rates are too high and a reduction is being awaited; that wheat is selling in some localities at 65 cents a bushel
because transit rates are prohibitive;
that the California citrus fruit growers have found prices in the east do not pay the rail charges.
He is convinced that the flat percentage increase in rates was inequit-able in many cases. Coal, for example, frequently costs less at the mine
than the transportation charge. The president thinks the situation calls for a marked reduction of rates on such basic commodities at least.

Clark Blames City Retailers

Chairman Clark of the interstate commerce commission does not regard the freight rate so important an element.

"The California lemon grower," he says, "is unable to sell his lemons in the east and at first blamed the freight rates, but as he looked further into the situation he found that the reason was the fact that the Sicilian lemon growers were selling their lemons in this country at $1.25 per box;
that the Sicilian grower has this advantage—he can take that $1.25 in our money back to Italy and it immediately is changed into a $5 bill.
So in this particular instance the only way in which the California lemon grower can successfully compete is through the levying by congress of an import tax that will give him a reasonable degree of protection."

Where the Retailer "Cops"

"The fact is that the retail dealer
in New York is paying just one half what he paid last year, but his price to the consumer is identical."

NEW YORK.—Eighty-seven years old Saturday, Chauncey M. Depew, said he did not think the occasion
worthy of much comment, but that he looked forward "with enthusiasm"
to entering his one hundredth year.
The former United States senator

tors, planned to make his usual trip
to his office and to receive a few of his old friends at a dinner given in his honor by Mrs. Depew.

UKRAINIAN PEASANTS ORGANIZING REVOLT AGAINST THE SOVIET

Many Towns Between Dnieper
and Dniester Rivers Taken
by Revolutionists

CAMPAIN OF TERRORISM IS INAUGURATED BY BOLSHIEVSKI

Two Thousand Reported Executed Within a Few Days

STOCKHOLM.—Organized rebellion
against the Russian soviet government is growing with renewed force
in Ukraine, telegrams from Petrograd declare. Peasants engaged in the revolt have taken many towns between the Dnieper and Dniester rivers where
the movement is most pronounced,
and they are reported to be engaged in operations intended to force the bolshievisks eastward to the left bank of the Dnieper.

Ukrainian peasants commanded by General Makno, operating south of Kharkov have torn up the railway
running between Moscow and the Crimea. The bolshievisks have concentrated troops in the district of Gomel and Rechtza, north of Kiev, where they have driven back the rebels and in the neighborhood of Smolensk northwest of Moscow, have begun a campaign of terrorism. It is reported they have executed 2,000 persons
within the past few days.

The rebellion is said to be spreading in the regions of Kharkov and Polesia.

SPEEDY ACTION ON IMMIGRATION BILL PLANNED IN SENATE

WASHINGTON.—The immigration restriction bill passed Friday by the house is to be pressed through the senate, probably next week, under plans of senate leaders.

Senator King, democrat, Utah, will offer his substitute bill to exclude
all immigrants for one year.

CONGRESS ADJOURNS

WASHINGTON.—Congress was not in session Saturday, the senate
having adjourned Thursday, and the house Friday, until Monday.

BOY HURT BY A BASEBALL; JOLTING AUTO RELIEVES PAIN

RUSHFORD, Minn.—After being hit in the side by a swiftly
thrown baseball, the 11-year-old son of Mrs. Emma Swenson, of this place, was in such intense pain that he was rushed to a La Crosse hospital, it being feared that an intestinal rupture was the injury. While on the way to the hospital by car, the machine hit
a deep rut and after the subsequent jolt and jerk, the boy was entirely relieved of his pain. The case somewhat puzzles physicians,
who now believe that instead of being ruptured, an intestine was twisted into a kink by the ball,
the jolt loosening it and stopping the pain.

SOLDIER HOSPITAL BILL SENT ON WAY THROUGH SENATE

Institution to Care for Shell-
shocked Veterans Provided

ADVANCE KLEIST BILL FOR FOOD MARKETS IN CITIES

Constitutionality of Measure is Questioned by Morgan

MADISON, Wis.—The senate unanimously engrossed the Huber bill calling for a memorial hospital for treatment of shell shocked Wisconsin
soldiers, Saturday morning. Action of the upper house is taken to indicate the willingness of the legislature to hurry the measure through, so work
may start on the project early this summer.

Under the proposed plan $100,000
will be spent on a permanent hospital to be located at Governor's Island
in Lake Mendota at Madison. The remainder of the $250,000 provided
will be used for construction of well equipped barracks to house additional soldiers, and for complete equipment
to treat the soldiers suffering from mental disorders.

Little objection rose to engrossment
of the Kleist bill to permit cities to engage in the purchase, sale and storage of food products. The measure, which Attorney General William Morgan has held unconstitutional, was then laid over until next week when final consideration will be given.

The attorney general has ruled that the bill would permit cities to use
public money for a private purpose,
which would be out of conformity with the constitution. Issue has been taken to this point, however, and if passed the matter would be carried to the supreme court.

Rates were set down governing
caddy boys on golf links, by passage of the Jennings bill in the senate. It provides that a boy 11 years of age
could caddy with the written consent
of his parents, but that no boy under fourteen would be permitted to go
more than eighteen holes in any one day.

The governor will be asked to sign
the Prescott bill localizing provisions of the federal Mann act to Wisconsin
as a result of concurrence in the senate this morning. The measure provides drastic regulations of vice, with stringent penalties should there be any violations of the act. It is expected that Governor Blaine will sign
the bill.

A bill of Senator Olson, stripping
the highway commission of much of its power, was killed on recommendation of the committee on highways.
Senator Olson asked that the committee report be accepted.

NEW GAS RATE IN EFFECT FOR CITY OF WINONA

The final decree in the Winona gas
rate case, drawn up by representatives of the city of Winona and the Wisconsin-Minnesota Light & Power company and formally approved by Judge Wilbur P. Booth, has been filed
by City Attorney Richard A. Randall with Miss Mable Shearman,
deputy clerk of the United States court in Winona and is effective at once.

The decree is in accordance with the recent decision of Judge Booth fixing the gas rate for this city at $1.92 per 1,000 cubic feet of gas, this rate to prevail until Sept. 1. The decree calls for a readjustment of the rate thereafter every four months. It is stipulated that a revaluation of the Winona gas plant may be made upon petition by either side. In his decision Judge Booth had suggested that a revaluation be not made oftener
than once in five years.

PRESIDENT HARDING BREAKS GROUND FOR BAPTIST MEMORIAL

WASHINGTON.—President Harding late Saturday will put aside matters of state to turn up the first spade
of earth in the ground breaking ceremonies for the National Baptist Memorial to Roger Williams and religious liberty. Prominent Baptists are here for the occasion.

The campaign for the erection of the memorial was started four years ago and is expected to cost about $500,000.

NEW PROPOSALS SUBMITTED TO U. S. TONIGHT

New Suggestions for Reparations Payments Contained in Note Dispatched to Washington

NOTE TO BRITAIN PLEDGES
FRENCH RECONSTRUCTION

Germany Promises to Do all She
Can to Restore Devastated Regions

PARIS.—Germany's new reparations proposals will be dispatched to Washington Saturday evening, according to a Berlin dispatch.

The cabinet met during the afternoon, says the message, to make a final draft of Germany's answer to the American note, and it is understood the proposals will be embodied in this communication, to be transmitted by night.

Will Help France

LONDON.—Germany has sent a note to the British government reiterating her complete willingness to underwrite the reconstruction of devastated France.

The note, which came from the German foreign office was delivered by the German embassy to the British foreign office Friday evening. It follows:

"Germany is absolutely persuaded that it is unavoidably necessary for the purpose of restoring economic peace throughout the world that the territories devastated through the war
should be reconstructed and restored.
Until this is done there will be danger
that feelings of hate will continue to exist among the nations concerned."

Will Use All Strength

"Germany therefore declares herself once more to be entirely willing to co-operate in this reconstruction
with all the means and strength at her disposal and to take into account
in regard thereto, in every individual case, each wish of the power concerned as far as is possible."

Won't Export Gold

PARIS.—By The Associated Press.
—Germany, instead of either agreeing or refusing to transfer the gold
reserve of the Reichsbank to occupied territory in the Rhineland, as the allied reparations commission has demanded, has offered to agree not to export or permit the exportation of gold from Germany before October 1
next.

Germany's note in reply to the reparations commission delivered to the commission today in which this offer is tendered, says her proffered agreement would adequately protect the allies, who had demanded the transfer because the second paragraph of Article 248 of the treaty of Versailles, prohibiting the exporting of gold becomes inoperative May 1.

The second paragraph of Article 248 of the peace treaty reads:
"Up to May 1, 1921, the German government shall not export or dispose of, and shall forbid the export
or disposal of gold without the previous approval of the allied and associated powers acting through the reparations commission."

This provision was intended to prevent Germany, should she feel inclined to do so, from disposing of any of her gold holdings prior to final settlement of the amount and methods
of her reparations payments.

Expect New Proposals

LYMPNE, England.—By The Associated Press.—Exchanges which have been going on for some weeks
between the British and French foreign offices relative to what can and ought to be done to collect reparations
from Germany will be continued here
today by Prime Minister Lloyd George and Premier Briand.

The French plan, is broadly, a project for administration and taking for the benefit of the allies, the Ruhr coal
basin and some parts of the Westph

Members are urged to come early in order that they may have the privilege of casting their ballot for the officers of the church. From 7:45 to 8:15 will occur the annual reports of the officers of the church for the year. These reports will only cover the period of seven months in view of the fact that the date of the annual meeting has been changed to May 1st. At 8:45 a program will be rendered under the charge of the social committee of the church. Each department of the church will give a welcome to the many new members who have come into the church recently. Refreshments will be served under the charge of the Ladies' Industrial society of the church, and a social hour will be enjoyed. All members of the church are urged to be present at this important meeting.
The Ladies' Industrial society will be entertained at the home of Mrs. W. S. Stewart, 1106 Pine street, on Thursday afternoon. The hostesses will be Mrs. G. W. Wise and Mrs. W. S. Stewart.
On Friday evening there will be a meeting of all who are interested in the church and Baptist missions to hear Dr. Ebank. This will be at 8 o'clock and is open to the public. Dr. Ebank has been the missionary of the Baptists in China for 21 years. A most cordial invitation is extended to all of the services of our church.

"What I want to know," interrupted Mrs. Driscoll sternly, "is how the pin got entangled in your hair? Answer me that, young lady! You were the last one in Mr. Brookes' office—and alone, I understand?"
"Oh, mother," sobbed Dulcie, as red as the roses Senah was picking up, "how can you and before these children? It was all so dreadful—I mean I misunderstood. I thought he wanted to make love to me—I didn't wait to hear what he had to say! Oh, don't look so dreadfully severe, mother; I just yielded for a tiny second, then I pulled away, and I guess the scarfpin got stuck in my hair."
"Dulcie," her mother's voice was very serious, "you know this is quite impossible. You are flattered by this proposal from a rich old man—
"Oh, but I love him! I've loved him from the first day I put a foot in the office!"
"What!" cried Senah dumfounded, "love that horrid old Mr. Brookes?"
And mother drew Dulcie's head gently to her shoulder and kissed the

Short Story
(Copyrighted)
That Horrid Old Mr. Brookes
BY LILY WANDER
"It certainly is terrible to wake up in the middle of the night and find that you are a thief, an honest-to-godness thief," wailed Dulcie from the bottom step.
"Particularly hard on the family," added Ted, "getting them all out of bed on a cold winter's night. And say, why does this family always congregate on the front stairs when there's something the matter, eh? Nasty, draughty place, I'll say."

"I always knew she'd got in an awful pickle some day," this from sixteen-year-old Senah, "and now of all persons, this horrid old Mr. Brookes!"
"Mother, won't you make them stop?" begged Dulcie desperately, trying to keep her teeth from chattering, "and suggest something?"
Mrs. Driscoll yawned as much as her chin strap would permit. "All I can think of is a nice, warm bed and sleep. I've been up since six."
"You're not a bit like mothers you read about," accused Dulcie tearfully. "I'd think you'd be broken-hearted leaving a thief for a daughter."
"We're not so broken-hearted," put in Ted, "as we are annoyed, old girl, devilish annoyed, of you, disappearing at 5 o'clock in the morning that you'd lifted your boss's diamond scarfpin."

"It's all because you're so careless," supported Senah proudly; "any decent person would have discovered it before retiring."
"Your story is so confusing, Dulcie," murmured Mrs. Driscoll sleepily. "Would you mind repeating it, but start from the beginning this time."
"Oh, I've told it just as it happened. You see, I was the last person in for dictation, and then Mr. Brookes came out of his private office."
"Not that horrid old Mr. Brookes?" interrupted Senah.
"Of course," answered Dulcie indignantly, "you know perfectly well there is only one Mr. Brookes in the firm—"
"Well, why don't you say old Mr. Brookes or something—you've at-ways called him horrid or cranky or beastly."

Dulcie went on ignoring the younger sister. "He came out and said he'd lost his scarfpin, a platinum one with diamonds, very precious to him. And we all began to hunt. I went into his private office and looked there, and oh, everywhere, because you see, it was very embarrassing for me—I was the last one in—and we couldn't find it. Nobody could see it down to work and we all felt dreadfully uncomfortable and each person kept protesting he had not seen the pin."
"And old Brookes, what did the old crab say?" questioned Ted.
"Oh, that is the worst of it! He said he was sure he'd find the thief!" sobbed Dulcie pitifully.
"Well, go on with the story," reminded Senah impatiently.
"That's all there is, except, of course, that I woke up in the night and—and I found the pin!"
Mrs. Driscoll broke into a loud exclamation. "This settles it—we're going to get. I'm catching cold. Go to sleep, Dulcie, and forget all about it till morning."
Dulcie gave a little scream, but her mother pushed her gently toward her bedroom. "I'll not close an eye," wailed the daughter.
And Ted from his room door teased, "Just keep your eye off my scarfpin, sis!"
Dulcie gave a little angry snort and flung herself in bed and promptly fell asleep. It was mother, of course, who awoke an hour or more planning what to do.

In the morning the little thief was enjoying a hearty breakfast when Ted, having answered the doorbell, came in with a big, long-shaped box and placed it on her lap. The rest of the family immediately rose to its feet.
For me?" asked Dulcie, turning white and red alternately.
Ted cut the string for her and opened the lid, and Dulcie with cold fingers pushed aside the tissue paper. Red roses! Long-stemmed and dozens of them. Such a thing had never happened before in the Driscoll family. They hovered around Dulcie's shoulders, and when she drew a white card from the box, the entire family read the message with her.
"As long as you have taken my scarfpin—I saw it glittering in your hair all afternoon—won't you take my roses too? And my love and my life and everything I possess, and give me in exchange just the hope of being my wife some day? L. Brookes."
The first thing Dulcie was conscious of was that the family had read the intimate message. She jumped to her feet, spilling the roses, turning an indignant, burning face, to the amazed little group.
Ted after a long, low whistle spoke first. "So that's where you found the pin—in your hair! And I thought

To Germany—and the Allies

PRESIDENT HARDING'S refusal to mediate for Germany is not so blank a refusal as it seems to be. It is sufficiently stern to Germany, of course, to indicate substantial recognition of the facts as to who started the war and where American interests are enlisted. But in its terms, and in the publicity given it, there is plain warning also for the allies that this country is interested more in peace than in crushing Germany. And, after all, that is more to the point than reparations. The fuss over reparations may be less about reparations and more about putting Germany on her back financially and industrially than the fictions of diplomacy permit us readily to realize. President Harding sticks to the forms of diplomacy, but in thought he goes under the surface and his policy looks toward effect on the hidden causes. He wants Germany to come across with a respectable reparations offer because he realizes that refusal to do so will afford the allies a pretext for more occupation of German territory and still further set back the time of rehabilitation and tranquil prosperity in Europe. Had he been interested only in reparations he would doubtless have merely refused the request to mediate and told Germany to make her own terms as best she might. By holding out the prospect of assistance in starting negotiations he indicates that it is negotiation and arrangement that he wants. These nuances, say the cables, are not lost in Paris, London—or Berlin. Wilson would not so have finessed it, but it may be that Harding's way will get better results.

What of the Market?

A NOTABLE omission from the administrative program of Mayor Bentley as outlined in his fourth inauguration address was that of any reference to the question of the public market. In view of the success of the voting-booth milk stations the omission can hardly be explained upon the ground of an absence of public interest. The hundreds of people who daily patronize the milk-stations are proof enough that direct marketing is a matter of keen and vital interest to a large section of the people of the city in every locality. The milk-stations are but one phase of the public market idea, and if the mayor or is, as he is reported to have become during the campaign, in favor of the milk-stations a logical step would have been advocacy of a genuine public marketing scheme for La Crosse to extend the benefits already demonstrated to other commodities than milk. The market ordinance now on the city's books is lame in several important particulars, and could be made much more effective were a little study and attention given to its development and the fostering of a marketing system on the lines of those now functioning satisfactorily in a number of cities. Marketing is not a dead issue, but an increasingly live one, with both producers and consumers striving to come closer together for mutual benefit. It had an important part in the inaugural addresses of Governor Blaine and President Harding. Was it too unimportant a matter for inclusion in that of Mayor Bentley?

How Convenient!

IF Bill Haywood is actually in Russia and not skulking under cover in this country there are reasons why the unannounced departure of the gentleman should be welcomed, even if in his exit Bill left behind him a prison sentence that he had not even begun. Bill in this country, will be kept out of mischief for only a few years at best, emerging from the stone house eventually to start his trouble-making afresh—for surely no one believes that the I. W. W. captain could ever be "reformed" and given new economic, political and moral beliefs by a term in a federal pen. Bill Haywood is Bill Haywood, and so long as he is in the United States he will be a Wobblly agitator. But Bill in Russia is one of Russia's troubles, not ours. And with an evaded prison sentence hanging over him if he returns, Bill might continue to be Russia's trouble.

ble, and do all his "Wobbling" over there. We've been deporting aliens of Bill's peculiar ideas off and on, but Bill we couldn't deport, because he's nominally a citizen. Under the circumstances Bill's levitating seems quite convenient. He has deported himself. If he'll only stay deported, and not contract a bad case of American patriotism like Goldman and Berkman—what could be sweeter?

There and Here

It appears, from various authoritative sources, that the English caste system received its deathblow during the war. The aristocracy, the middle-class, and the servant class no longer exist as arbitrary distinctions.

In the chaos of war, they were all drawn in together and when it was over they had become so mixed up, so used to rubbing elbows, that the old artificial barriers between man and man crumbled away. Curiously enough, no one in England seems to give a whoop. They are quite happy over it in that country where centuries of tradition had developed a rather rigid social system!

One recalls Sir James Barrie's delicate satire upon the class consciousness of English servants. Shipwrecked with his master and his master's friends on an island, the butler, being the only one of the party ingenious enough to provide shelter, clothing, and food, became a virtual dictator, commanding obedience and respect from all. But when they were rescued, he reverted at once to his habitual deference and servility to his "superiors" and, indeed, could not be argued out of it.

We wonder how this news from England is going to be taken by certain people in this country. People who have aped English social customs and manners and have parroted the English accent.

It has always been a little absurd and ridiculous, this sedulous imitation of the English aristocratic attitude, gestures, and drawl, this attiring of servants in uniforms from English models, this eager attempt to forget the by no means disgraceful truth that one's father measured out groceries from behind a counter or that one's grandfather plowed his own land, or that one's husband began life as an office boy. It has ruined whatever we might have had of originality in our social life.

If his dislike for work wasn't so great the average young criminal would not find it so difficult to keep out of prison.

When a man's in debt he goes to work, or the poorhouse; the same path lies before the nation similarly situated.

Costa Rica has called off its war; couldn't stand the competition of the American baseball season.

In Ye Olden Times

TEN YEARS AGO TODAY
The annual convention of the Knights of Columbus lodge of Wisconsin will be held in this city May 9 and 10.

As was predicted yesterday, all girls employed at the Wisconsin Pearl Button company, have joined the union and have declared a sympathetic strike with the button-cutters who walked out Monday. No disorders were reported. Miss Margaret Finnigan, Chicago organizer, who had charge of the girl strikers at Muscatine, Iowa, is on her way here to organize the girls here. The strike here is in the hands of John Kae, local organizer for the Trades and Labor council.

A council of the F. R. A. was organized at West Salem Friday evening by A. C. Radke, district manager. May 5 was set as the day when the full initiatory ceremonies will be given by the La Crosse members of the Fraternal Reserve association.

City Clerk E. H. Hoffman has officially appointed Theodore J. Ritter, formerly weighmaster at the North La Crosse scales, deputy city clerk. He will assume his duties May 1.

TWENTY YEARS AGO TODAY
John Whiteboy, chief of a strolling band of Winnebago Indians who often camp near La Crosse and trade here, has been notified by the Commissioner of Indian Affairs that a large tract of land in Nebraska has been sold to settlers and that he will receive several thousand dollars as his share of the receipts. Chief Whiteboy and his band abandoned the land twenty-five years ago. The land, however, remained their property.

The closing up of Lake Park for the summer season was begun today. The bandstand will be remodeled, the trees trimmed and the pavilion renovated.

At the fifty-fifth annual session of the Wisconsin conference of the German Evangelical association at Milwaukee, the Rev. G. Schmeller was reappointed to his La Crosse church.

Sister Mary Gregory of St. Francis hospital, Joseph Euler, M. D., Oleson and Joseph Giefer passed the examinations before the state board of pharmacy. Mr. Giefer was granted a first grade certificate and the others received second grade certificates.

THIRTY YEARS AGO TODAY

The board of public works went down to the Jerev yesterday to lay out some new rules for the boat licenses. All boat houses and floats were moved north to a point where they would not be in line with the bath house as it is desirable to have the house in clear running water for the children to swim in. The bath house will open Sunday.

Edward Nilson has purchased the H. Bergerson property at the corner of Avon and Gillette streets and will build a meat market on it.

The La Crosse river wagon bridge is being replanked.

John Keaveny and Peter Keaveny, Jr., started for the Pacific coast Sunday night. They expect to locate in Seattle or Tacoma, Wash.

John Davis, a Winnebago Indian, was in the city yesterday and sold 250 mink skins and nineteen muskrat skins to local furriers.

The John Gausch building on Fifth and Main streets, was raised yesterday and today started on a journey to a new location. The old postoffice newsstand has been torn down. The candy store suffered the same fate and now the work on Mr. Barton's new building can be begun.

A Man For the Ages

BY
Irving Bacheller
(Copyright 1919 by Irving Bacheller)

"No, Dad! Look, comes when you carry all your money through the house and spend it for land. I am going to write to Harry and tell him to hurry home and marry me if he wants to. Don't say a word about the divorce to our friend Davis. I want to make him keep his distance. It is hard enough now."

Before she went to bed that night she wrote a long letter to Harry and one to Abe Lincoln thanking him for his part in the matter and telling him of her father's death, of the payment coming due and of the hard times they were suffering. Two weeks passed and brought an answer from Mr. Lincoln.

The day before the payment came due in December, a historic letter from Tampa, Fla., was published in The Democrat. It was signed "Robert Deming, private, Tenth Cavalry." It gave many details of the campaign in the Everglades in which the famous scout Harry Needles and seven of his comrades had been surrounded and slain. When Mr. Davis called at the little home in La Salle street that evening he found Dim in great distress.

"I throw up my hands," she said. "I can not stand any more. We shall be homeless tomorrow."

"No, not that—so long as I live," he answered. "I have brought the claim. You can pay me when you get ready."

He was very tender and sympathetic.

When he had left Dim said to her mother: "Our old friends do not seem to care what becomes of us. I have no thought now save for you and the baby. I'll do whatever you think best for you two. I don't care for myself. My heart is as dead as Harry's."

CHAPTER XX

Which Tells of the Settling of Abe Lincoln and the Trailers in the Village of Springfield and of Samson's Second Visit to Chicago.

Dim's judgment of her old friends was ill founded. It was a slow time in which she lived. The foot of the horse, traveling and often mired in a rough muddy highway, was its swiftest courier. Letters carried by horse or slow steamboats were the only means of communication between people separated by wide distances. The learned wrote letters of astonishing length and literary finish—letters which were passed from hand to hand and read aloud in large and small assemblies. They presented the news and the comment it inspired. In these old and generous letters, which antedated the railroad and the telegraph, critics have discovered one of the most delicate and informing of the best arts—the epistolary. But to the average hand, wearied by heavy loads, the lightsome goose quill, committing its owner to dubious spelling and clumsy penmanship, and exposing the inferiority of his intellect, was a dreaded thing. When old Black Hawk signed a treaty he was wont to say that he had "touched it with the goose quill." He made only a little mark whereupon a kind of sanding was imparted to the document. Every man questioned to its use stood in like awe of this implement. When he "took his pen in hand" he had entered upon an adventure so unusual that his letter always mentioned it as if, indeed, it were an item of news not to be overlooked. So it is easy to understand that many who had traveled far were as the dead, in a measure, to the friends they had left behind them and that those separated by only half a hundred miles had to be very enterprising to keep acquainted.

In March Abe Lincoln had got his license to practice law. On his return from the north he had ridden to Springfield to begin his work as a lawyer in the office of John T. Stuart. His plan was to live and furnish a room and get his meals at the home of his friend, Mr. William Butler. He went to the store of Joshua Speed to buy a bed and some bedding. He found that they would cost seventeen dollars.

"The question is whether you would trust a man owing a national debt and without an asset but good intentions and a license to practice law for so much money," said Honest Abe. "I don't know when I could pay you."

Speed was also a young man of good intentions and a ready sympathizer for those who had little else. He had heard of the tall representative from Sangamon county.

"I have a plan which will give you a bed for nothing if you would care to share my room above the store and sleep with me," he answered.

"I'm much obliged but for you it's quite a contract."

"You're rather long," Speed laughed. "Yes, I could lick salt off the top of your hat. I'm about a man and a half but by long practice I've learned how to keep the half out of the way of other people. They say that when Long John Wentworth got to Chicago he slept with his feet sticking out of a window and that they had to take down a partition because he couldn't stand the familiarity of the woodpeckers, but he is eight inches taller than I am."

"I'm sure we shall get along well enough together," said Speed. They went up to the room. In a moment Mr. Lincoln hurried away for his saddle-bags and returned shortly. "There are all my earthly possessions," he said as he threw the bags on the floor.

Today being Saturday we put this "nut" up for cracking: Why is a washerwoman like Saturday? Answer to be printed Monday.

Yesterday's: Why is a mouse like a mouse?—Because the cat (cat) eat it.

INDOOR MAGIC

Take up a deck of cards. Have a friend choose one and look at it. When he puts it back into the pack, which you still hold, allow the card to project a little so you know where it is and can bring it to the top of the deck when you shuffle it again.

Shuffle the cards for the second time. Hold the deck in the palm of your left hand with your right. Bend the cards inward so the muscles of your left hand grasp the top card. This is called "palm-ing." Then give the cards, with the exception of the one palmed, to your friend. All the while you must keep the palmed card carefully concealed and hold your left hand as naturally as possible.

"Throw the deck into the air," you say. Your friend does so. You make a grab into the flying cards with your left hand, bringing the palmed card into your fingers. Your friend is at a snatching it out of the air.

"This is your card, isn't it?" you ask, and your friend, much mystified, admits it is.

Blessed is he who expecteth but little on final exams, for verily he'll get it.—THE STUDENT.

TODAY'S GREAT PERSON

April 23—Your Birthday?

William Shakespeare, considered the greatest dramatic genius that ever lived. He was born in England, on April 23, 1564. Died April 23, 1616.

WHAT'S THE REASON?

(A Dingbat.)

Are the days dragging slowly for you, too? They are for me. What do you suppose is the reason? Is it because we get more daylight now than we did in winter? Or is it because there are more than sixty minutes in an hour? Or do you think it's because summer vacation isn't so very far away?

I know what I think—What about you?—Mary Corinth. You can, Mary Corinth did. Try it. Just sit down and put your thoughts on paper, breaking up the lines unevenly. Then read them in.

Each group of letters represents a word. Rearrange the letters of each group properly and two lines of an old nursery rhyme will result: Ewklit, knwlelt, lltel rsta, Woh I rdenow hlaw oyu rea. (Words forming the square in yesterday's hardknott are bank, area, neat, Kate.)

How Long are Elephants' Tusks?

They vary with the age of the animal, for the tusks grow throughout its life. The amount and kind of work done with the tusks has a great deal to do with their size, too. One Indian elephant had tusks 8 feet long. The average length is a little less than 5 feet.

FROM BIG LEAGUE BALL PLAYER?

My First Game In The Big League

By George H. Sister

Infielder for the St. Louis Browns After graduating from the University of Michigan in 1915 I joined the St. Louis Browns at Chicago. St. Louis was to play the Chicago team, the White Sox, that day and it was to be my first chance to appear on a major league diamond. I did not suppose that I would play in that game, however, and thought little of my own ability. What I planned to do was watch the plays and learn just how they were planned and executed in the big league, and how the methods differed from those of college baseball which I had been accustomed to.

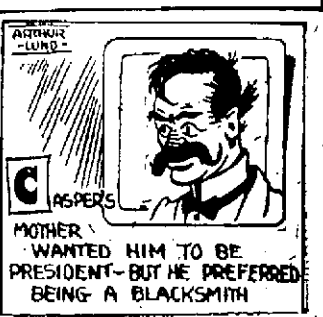

The time for the game arrived. Hamilton was our pitcher. Things went fairly well until the sixth inning. Something did not work right. I was summoned to warm up. I took the mound at the opening of the seventh.

It was an exciting moment, believe me. I had often read of Eddie Collins and other White Sox stars and knew of their ability. Now I was to pitch to them. It was thrilling.

During the 3 innings that I worked no one scored on me. Eddie Collins did hit one down the left field line for 2 bases, but in return I had the satisfaction of striking out his name sake, John Collins, in a pinch.

Was I excited? Well—yes!

THE PARABLE OF THE GARDEN
I spoke unto Keturah, saying, I will make a Garden.

And Keturah said, So thou hast said, and so hast thou done, each Spring since ever I knew thee. Thou wilt make a Garden in the Spring; but who will hoe it in Summer?

And I heeded her not, but went to work. And after a time she came unto me and helped me.

And I sang unto her a song, saying: I want to be a gardener and with the gardeners stand.

An horny-handed son of toil with an linstock in mine hand; Beneath the tall tomato-tree I'll be saving the glittering dew.

And she said, I will be a gardener and with the gardeners stand.

And she said, I will be a gardener and with the gardeners stand.

And I said, The song that I have sung unto thee is a free translation from the Sanskrit or some other Ancient Language which was spoken in the Garden of Eden. Thus doth man-kind sing in every Spring.

And she said, Thy first father who sang that song was not a brilliant success as a Gardener.

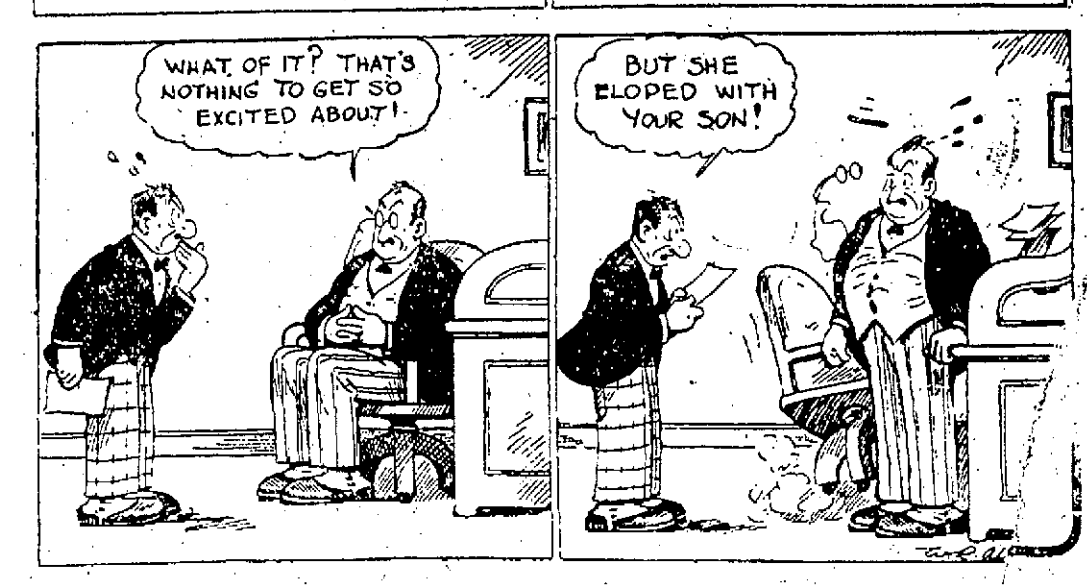

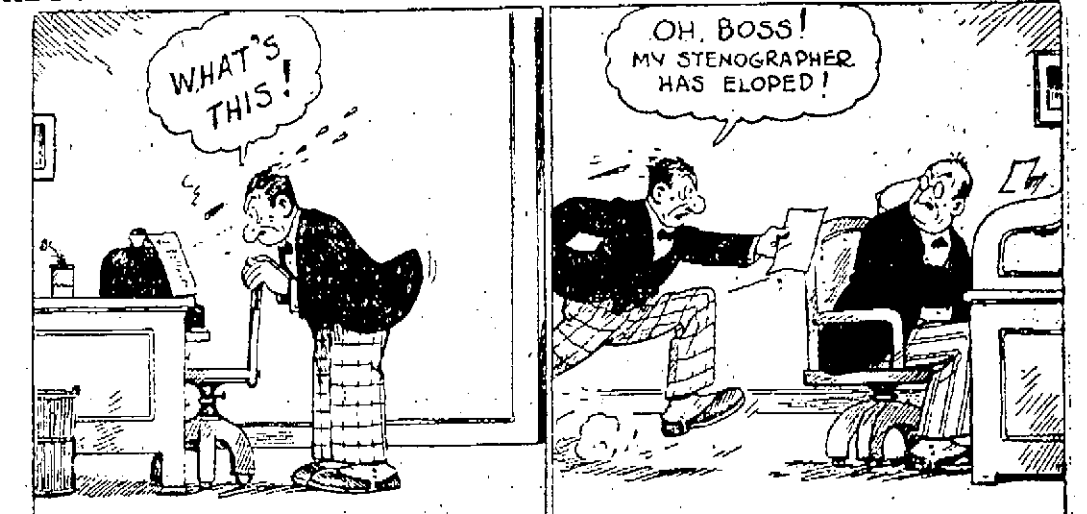

And I said, Woman, be thou silent, and remember. My first father, even Adam, was singing that song to the

THE DUFFS TOM BREAKS THE NEWS GENTLY—BY ALLMAN

AGREE ON TENTATIVE REAPPORTIONMENT OF WISCONSIN DISTRICTS

Racine to be Given Additional Assemblyman and a State Senator

MADISON, Wis.—A tentative reapportionment of the assembly and senate districts has been decided upon by the joint redistricting committee. Contrary to expectations, no extraordinary changes have been made, and no drastic changes are contemplated. The present plan of the committee is to grant Racine county an additional assemblyman, or a total of three, and give it a senator. The greatest increase in population took place in Racine, Milwaukee and Kenosha counties, and it is in these counties that the most material changes will have to be made.

This divorcing of Kenosha from Racine in the senatorial reapportionment makes mandatory the joining of Kenosha and Walworth county into a senatorial district. Milwaukee county will also get one extra senator and one extra assemblyman, and greatly augment the influence of Milwaukee in the legislature.

It is also planned to divide Marinette and Duane county and make a more compact senatorial district by joining Door, Kewaunee and Manitowish counties.

Counties which are expected to lose assemblymen are Jefferson and Winnebago.

With the exception of the southeastern part of the state, growth in population has pretty well kept pace with the average for the state and no far reaching changes will be necessary. Changes in congressional districts have not been considered, as action will be impossible until congress reports its reapportionment program. If no extra congressman is granted Wisconsin, no material changes need be expected, but an additional congressional district would throw the question wide open, with no predicting the final result. Attempt at gerrymandering would be inevitable.

AT THE THEATERS TODAY

Rivoli—Mary Pickford in "The Love Light".
Majestic—Alice Brady in "Out of the Chorus".
Hollywood—Kathryn Miller, "The Girl from Brazil".
Hollywood—Vaudeville, Davis and Nelson in "Bright Ideas", a snappy act and winter and McKissock, character duets and ballads; Jane Novak in "The Golden Trail", a comedy.
Casino—David Butler and a big cast in "Fickle Women", comedy.
Strand—Rupert Hughes' famous comedy, "Scratch My Back", played by a big cast; Eddie Polo serial, "King of the Circus".

MAJESTIC — ALICE BRADY
Alice Brady, who is to be seen for the last time tonight at the Majestic Theater in "Out of the Chorus", owns a very beautiful parrot of rose point lace which once was the property of the late Empress Eugenie, who passed away in July. The handle of the parrot is of tortoise shell and ivory, set with five diamonds. Miss Brady purchased this interesting souvenir from one of the servants of the late Empress.

All the girls and matrons in town who own strings of pearls, necklaces, pendant pearls or earrings, are wearing them tonight, since seeing Alice Brady do it, thus in "Out of the Chorus" Miss Brady is called the best dressed star in motion pictures, and all feminine picture fans look to her for new sartorial wrinkles.

MARY PICKFORD—RIVOLI
Frances Marion, well known scenario writer, who directed Mary Pickford in "The Love Light", which is now being shown at the Rivoli Theater besides developing a very splendid director, also became quite proficient as an animal trainer.

During the filming of the picture she directed a bird, a pig, a cat, a flock of chickens and supervised the close-ups of a monkey.

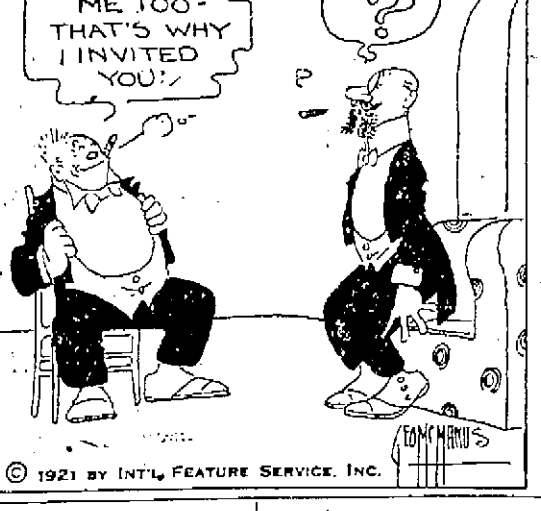

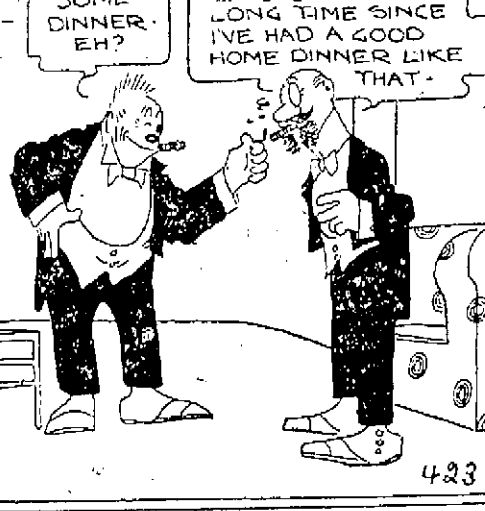

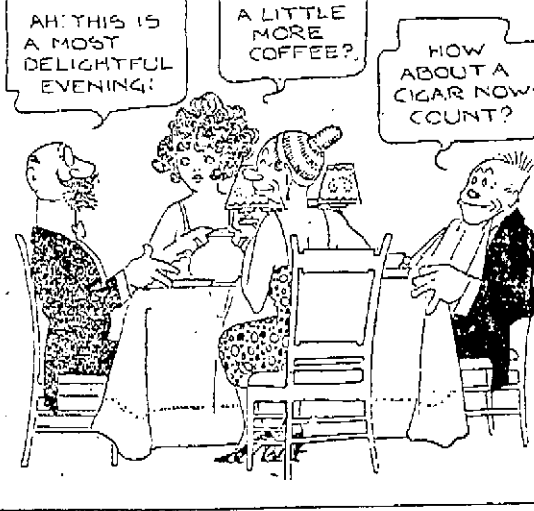

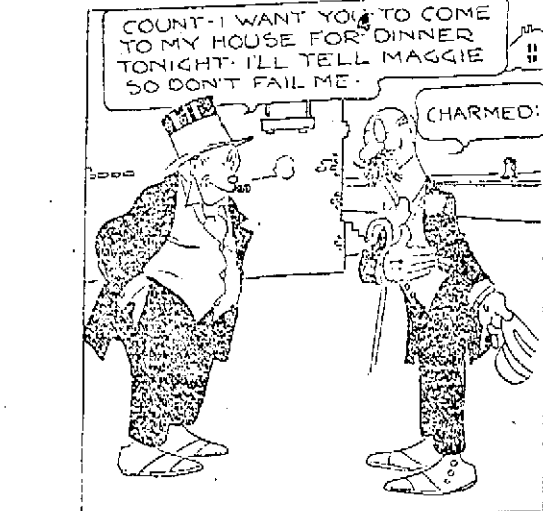

After Miss Marion struck her directorial stride, and the newness of her directorial experience wore off, she kept two cameramen and two sets busy at work every day. The picture was well rehearsed in advance and while Miss Pickford and Miss Marion were filming one scene, the lights, etc., were arranged on the other, thus giving them an opportunity not only to do the scenes in which Miss Pickford appears but also the scenes in which she does not.

COMEDIANS IN VAUDEVILLE
OFFERING AT THE RIVIERA
A two-day vaudeville bill at the Riviera will close with tonight's showing. Davis and Nelson offer "Bright Ideas", a snappy cross-fire line of chatter. Davis is a traveling salesman and Miss Nelson a sales woman. Their chatter is about their respective lines of merchandise, with a bit of sentimental interweaving, thanks to the pen of the author.

BRINGING UP FATHER

Winter, assisted by George McKissock, veteran educators appear in character duets and ballads. The two old gentlemen formerly of musical comedy and operatic companies who still retain their vocal ability and sing various ballads and character songs in a commendable manner. Mr. Winter is the composer of the song hit "Little Wings" and it was his singing of this number that made him famous. "The Golden Trail" starring Jane Novak is said to be one of the most elaborate and unique series of its kind in the history of photodramas of the far north. "The Golden Trail" is from the pen of Louis H. Moonaw.

"FICKLE WOMEN"—CASINO
"Fickle Women," the new American comedy drama with the new star, David Butler, will be shown for the last time at the Casino today. The story of this photoplay was adapted for the screen from the brilliant short piece of fiction which appeared recently in the Saturday Evening Post under the title "Sitting on the World," by Sophie Kerr.

"SCRATCH MY BACK"—STRAND
Val Romney's motto was "They That Impulse." In snappy society from coast to coast and vice versa he was known as the man who always did what he wanted to. You will admit that this was a rather large order. To make things still harder, Val insisted on wanting to do the sort of things that snappy-minded people generally shun. For instance, when he rode in a street car one fatigued and encountered a long-haired man who weighed all of 250 pounds and a half passengers' room Val promptly dug him in the ribs with his cane to make him move over. As a result Val's left eye went into deep mourning for about a week, but the principle was there, anyway, and besides it was a wonderful fight. It won't take much volubility on the part of your imagination to figure out that young Mr. Romney's adventures in doing-as-he-pleased would make a wonderful motion picture. Rupert Hughes, America's most popular novelist, wrote what is considered the most amusing screen comedy of the year, with the irrepressible Val as the hero. "Scratch My Back" is the title—and it's just as startling as it sounds. Snappy, comic, fast, clever—and funny. It's here at the Strand tonight.

Normal Notes

Ernest C. Lathbridge, president of the Teachers' college, located at Stras in Asia Minor, spoke to the students of the Normal school Friday morning. He told graphically of the situation in the territory which is under Turkish control and explained the system employed by the agents of the Near East Relief committee who are working in that section. He said that the work which has been done in Armenian relief in the past has done a wonderful lot of good, but that the work is not yet finished, and it will be necessary for the people of the country to again contribute funds to the relief work if any permanent good results are to be obtained.

He emphasized the fact that the great need of the American people is to develop a heart of sympathy with the suffering peoples of other parts of the world, and to acquaint themselves with world conditions in general.

The Baskin Beaz, an entertainment put on by the members of the Baskin Dramatic society of the Normal school Friday afternoon at 4:30 proved to be one of the most delightful stunts of the kind staged at the local school this year.

The opening number was a two act playlet entitled "Suppressed Desires." The parts were taken by Mildred Ruden, Elizabeth Kuenzel and George Gerling. All three played their parts well and by their actions showed that they are perfectly at home on the stage. The remainder of the program consisted of a miniature minstrel show put on by five girls from the society. Miss Violet Stewart won a round of applause as interlocutor, and again for her unique rendition of "Mammy." Helen Voss and Marjorie Palmer each sang solos which were well received and appreciated by the audience. Mildred Miller and Edna Cordes ably assisted in the chorus by their singing and fancy stepping.

BUILDING HOMES IN WAUKON
WAUKON, Ia.—J. J. Hart of Waterville has commenced excavating for his new residence which he will construct on Worcester street. Henry Davis has also begun work on his new residence on the former Chautauqua grounds, on Adams street, and James Ronayne is erecting a new home on his property east of the Baptist church.

WAUKON GROCER ROBBED
WAUKON, Ia.—Some one forced an entrance through a cellar window into Don Lemme's grocery store in the Beacon block Sunday night. The only missing articles are a few cartons of cigarettes and one candy, while a small sum of money in the cash register was untouched.

FIRST WEEK IN MAY IS DESIGNATED AS CHINA FAMINE WEEK

Wisconsin Asked to Help Save Five Million Chinese from Starvation

UNIVERSITY MAN SUCCEEDS MCCARTHY AS CHAIRMAN

Personnel of Relief Committee is Announced

MADISON, Wis.—To save five million Chinese from starvation before the July harvest, is asked of the people of America, and Wisconsin will endeavor to raise its share of the needed food during the week May 1-8, designated by Governor Macdonald as China Famine Week. Plans for Wisconsin's big relief effort are now well under way. A representative State Central Committee has been formed with headquarters here. It is headed by Prof. W. Mead, University of Wisconsin, as chairman, succeeding the late Dr. Charles McCarthy.

The personnel follows: L. M. Hanks, Pres. Central Wis. Trust Co. Treas.; David E. Schmitt, Executive Secretary; Magnus Swenson, formerly State Food Administrator; A. W. Hawkins, Editor Agricultural Journalism, Fair of Wisconsin; Mrs. Charles McCarthy, F. A. Cannon, Sec. (Good Roads Assn. of Wisconsin); Justice and Mrs. M. B. Rosenberry, Major J. A. Fitzpatrick, State Board of Education; Secretary, E. J. B. Schelberg, Agency; Mrs. John J. Blaine, Mrs. J. W. Hobbs, Mrs. H. S. Richards, Mrs. H. H. Morgan, C. P. Cary, State Sup't. of Schools; Senators C. B. Hild, Wausau; A. C. Anderson, Monmouth; J. H. Peterson, Sturgeon Bay; A. E. Matheson, Janesville; George Oakes, New Richmond; Speaker Riley S. Young, Barab; and the following publicity committee: A. W. Hopkins, F. A. Cannon, Chris. J. Schroeder, Wm. T. Reine, A. M. Brayton and L. W. Redman, all of Madison.

Specific methods for raising funds are planned to reach all classes of people through these channels:

1. Men's organizations. A local famine relief committee should be appointed to correlate the efforts of all business men's organizations, to have charge of general community efforts, and enlist the cooperation of such groups as Rotary and Kiwanis clubs.

2. Women's organizations. A women's chairman of the local famine relief committee to secure the support of all women's organizations in observing first China Famine Sunday (May 1) by substituting a simple, inexpensive meal for the regular Sunday dinner, and second, China Famine Week by eliminating one course from every meal, and devoting the savings from it to the famine fund.

3. The China Life Saving Stamps. The sale of these through schools and boys' and girls' organized clubs. During Famine Week, everybody—old and young—is urged to use these stamps on every letter and parcel. Each stamp costs 2 cents and will save a life for a day. Through Superintendent Cary's "Educational News Bulletin" all schools in the state are urged to organize the sale of stamps, obtainable on consignment from the China Famine Relief Committee, Association of Commerce, Madison. Wisconsin. No local famine committee has been formed.

"No sum is too large to give, no sum too small, to help relieve this terrible destruction," said Chairman Mead. "No American is so poor that he cannot save a life at the lowest rate ever quoted, one dollar a month. China is far away—6,000 miles—but hunger is hunger, whether around the corner or beyond the Pacific.

Famine funds are to be forwarded to the Central Wisconsin Trust Co., Madison, the state depository.

Thousand Chinese Die In Sinking Vessel—Drown Or Are Killed In Panic Riot

PEKING.—(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)—Sinking of the steamer Hong Koh, bound from Singapore to Amoy, with approximately 1,100 Amoy and Swatow Chinese and 20,000 bags of rice aboard, just outside Swatow, precipitated a panic in which the passengers fought with knives, axes and hatchets for places in the boats. About 1,000 passengers and most of the native crew were drowned or killed in the rioting. The Hong Koh was drawing twenty-two feet of water when it approached Swatow. A pilot went aboard but refused to bring it into port because of insufficient water over the bar at the harbor entrance. The Swatow Chinese threatened a riot but the officers cleared for action with firearms and the trouble was averted for the time being.

When the vessel struck the rocks the panic and fighting followed. The boats and rafts that could be launched were swamped from overcrowding or wrecked by the heavy swell. The captain, Harry Holmes, was drowned, but the other officers, who were foreigners, escaped. The steamer flew the British flag.

The botany class of the Onalaska high school enjoyed a hike to the bluffs Wednesday afternoon.

The series of teas conducted by ladies of the city to raise money for the Methodist church, have been very successful. Among those that were held this week were: Mrs. Coburn's at the home of Mrs. F. Allen; Mrs. Barber's at the R. Shove home; and Miss Saunders' at the home of Mrs. Irvine Comen.

The Women's Bible Study class met at the M. E. church Wednesday afternoon with Mrs. L. C. Hatch as teacher. This class is open to all women and it is hoped more will join in the near future.

SUBWAY FLOODED

NEW YORK.—The Lexington avenue subway near Spring street was flooded Saturday by the bursting of a water main. Excitement followed as passengers tried to scramble out of stalled trains.

All trains between the Grand Central station and Brooklyn bridge were halted by the automatic safety block system. Passengers on a stalled express train near the scene of the break, left the cars and crossed the tracks on improvised board platforms. Many were drenched when they reached the street.

WAGON MAN BURNED

WALKER, Wis.—Robert Duval of Lowtown township came near receiving fatal injuries and evening last week when he started from the house to the barn carrying a lighted lantern in one hand and a pail of gasoline in the other. In going through the gate he spilled some of the gasoline on the lantern which set fire to the tail of his coat. He was instantly enveloped in flames and was badly burned about the face, arms and chest before they could be extinguished.

TWO-DAY DEBATE HELD ON COMPENSATION INSURANCE

Bill is Killed With Vital Section Eliminated

MADISON, Wis.—The senate allowed the industrial commission $285,000 Friday afternoon. The measure granting $300,000 had been sent back by the governor with the demand that it be reduced $15,000.

Senator George Skogmo declared that the measure in which this bill had been handled might have been good politics but was mighty poor statesmanship.

"Are you charging the governor with playing politics?" interrupted Senator Huber, administration floor leader in the upper house.

Good humor was restored when Senator Nye explained that the amount under discussion was not $250,000, as Skogmo believed, but $285,000. The threat of the finance committee to go the governor one better by forcing him to veto the appropriation because it was too small, was not carried out. The clash took place after the senate had been fired out by a two-day discussion of Skogmo's compensation insurance bill, in the committee of the whole, by insurance Commissioners Matt Whitman and H. L. Egan.

Most of the opposition centered on the second section which provided:

"That every workman's compensation policy shall be written for a term of one year only.

"That no mutual insurance company could pay any dividends upon any compensation policy until it was approved by the state insurance board.

The mutual companies opposed the bill and brought forward the Severson amendment striking out both of the foregoing provisions. With the heart of the bill thus stricken out, even the sponsors for the measure voted to kill it. Senator Skogmo expects to move reconsideration of the bill.

Final vote on Senator Warden's resolution for a constitutional amendment authorizing the state to lend money to settlers of unimproved lands was deferred until Wednesday in order to bring out a full vote. A similar resolution has already been defeated in the assembly.

Demand was made upon the joint finance committee for $15,000 a year for two years in order to establish a school for architects in connection with the university. Such a school would be of great value to the state, as adequate instruction is not at present afforded here, according to architects appearing before the committee.

SENATE APPROVES COMMISSION PLAN OF COUNTY RULE

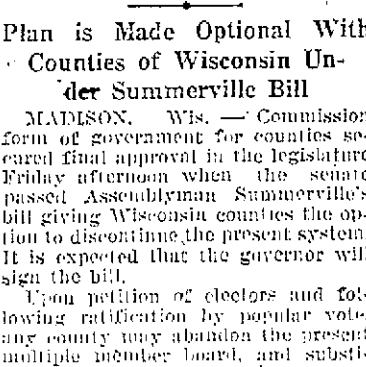

Plan is Made Optional With Counties of Wisconsin Under Summerville Bill

MADISON, Wis.—Commission form of government for counties secured final approval in the legislature Friday afternoon when the senate passed Assemblyman Summerville's bill giving Wisconsin counties the option to discontinue the present system. It is expected that the governor will sign the bill.

Upon petition of electors and following ratification by popular vote, any county may abandon the present multiple member board, and substitute a small commission. The compulsory feature was omitted from the bill, but it is hoped by the legislature that the new plan may be tried by enough counties to be an indication of its merit. Cities which have operated under the commission form of government have demonstrated that the success or failure of the system often depends upon purely local conditions.

ROADS YIELD SEVEN AND A HALF MILLION REVENUE TO STATE

Taxes of this Year Million and Half More than Was Anticipated

MADISON, Wis.—Railroads will contribute $7,455,000 to the revenue of the state during the year 1921-22, or $1,455,000 more than was estimated by the board of public affairs when making up the budget estimates, according to tentative report of the tax commission. Hearing will be held Thursday with tax representatives of the carriers to definitely set the assessment for the present year.

The estimated returns will bring an additional $700,000 into the general fund, over that of last year where the estimates contemplated a loss of approximately $800,000. There is a possibility that some reductions will be brought about as a result of the hearing, but not of any great extent.

Increased rates on the general property of the state, which rose two mills during the past year, are responsible for the greater return from the railroads. Valuation of their property fell from $360,000,000 in 1920 to $352,964,000 in 1921, but the assessment against the property jumped from $0.01895 mills on the dollar to $0.02106 mills.

Valuation of telegraph and telephone property is being made by the tax commission, and will be completed by July 1. An increase is expected here also, but of less extent.

BEER REGULATIONS AWAIT APPROVAL OF NEW DRY OFFICIAL

Proposed Plan for Permitting
Sale on Prescription Merely Tentative

WASHINGTON.—An arbitrary limit of 4 7/8 gallons of beer and three gallons of wine as the maximum a physician may prescribe at any time has been set in new prohibition regulations which await the approval of David H. Ely, the new commissioner of internal revenue.

In making this announcement Saturday, prohibition Commissioner Ely said that while under Attorney General Palmer's recent opinion the amount of beer or wine prescribed by a physician over a given period could not be limited, it was believed that the amount of individual prescriptions could be limited to a reasonable maximum.

It would not be practical, he said, to require a patient for whom two or three bottles of beer a day might be prescribed to obtain a prescription for each day.

Issuance of beer and wine regulations, Mr. Ely emphasized, will depend entirely upon the decision of the new international revenue commissioner. Regulations as prepared for his approval, he said, were merely tentative.

POLICE INDIGNANT AT PUBLICITY OVER ATTACKS ON GIRLS

"Spoiled Everything," Says the Chief of Report of Normal
Mass-Meeting

THERE were no further developments Saturday in connection with efforts to locate the degenerate who has twice attacked unaccompanied girls in the east end of the city recently. At Central station Chief of Police Webber expressed resentment that publicity had been given to the warning mass-meeting at the normal school and the attack on Miss Ruth Cronk.

"We haven't anything," said the chief angrily when asked for a report on the case. "That story spoiled everything we had on it."

The chief refused to specify how pointing of the facts had obstructed police work on the case.

AMERICAN LEGION OF WAUKON WILL GIVE BENEFIT PLAY

WAUKON, Iowa.—Every detail has been planned for the big show which the local post of the American Legion will put on at the Bartholomew next week Friday and Saturday, April 23 and 24, and rehearsals are progressing nicely. Three performances will be given, one each evening and a matinee on Friday afternoon.

Last year the opera house failed to accommodate the large crowds seeking admission to the three performances given, and doubtless "The Traveling Submarine" will likewise attract the multitudes this time. The program booklets contain a complete roster of the local legion and auxiliary posts, and the Milwaukee county honor roll of the legion.

From the receipts of their annual show the legion maintains its fine roomy quarters—club rooms, dance hall, reading rooms, etc.

WITHERBEE NAMED GALESVILLE MAYOR BY THE COUNCIL

O. D. Witherbee was Friday evening appointed by the city council of Galesville, who passed away at that place. He succeeds W. S. Wadleigh, who was recently elected but declined to accept the office after his old term had expired Tuesday. The council last evening gave a unanimous vote for Mr. Witherbee to be the new mayor and he entered upon the discharge of his duties immediately after election. He is a general merchant of the place and at the recent election was defeated by Mr. Wadleigh for the office by a majority of only two votes. Prior to his last term Mr. Wadleigh at different times had served as mayor of Galesville. He pleaded a pressure of other duties at this time.

CHARLES CONWAY OF VIROQUA IS BURIED; ILL FOR PAST YEAR

VIROQUA, Wis.—The funeral of Charles Conway, prominent citizen of Vernon county, who passed away on Tuesday, was held at the Methodist church in this city on Thursday afternoon. The Rev. Mr. Harris officiated. Mr. Conway had been ill for the past year. He is survived by his wife, and four children.

Twenty representatives of the Wisconsin Fire Prevention association visited Viroqua on Wednesday and gave the city a thorough inspection. Lectures were given at the school houses, before classes of children, and a meeting of citizens held in the evening.

PAINTER ELECTROCUTED MADISON, WIS.—Herman Stein, a

Madison painter, was electrocuted Saturday morning when he fell from a wire-post and became entangled in a mass of high-powered live wires of the Wisconsin River power company, for which he was working. The accident occurred on the outskirts of the city.

Stein had just begun work for the power company and was painting its first post when the accident happened.

YOU MAY THANK ADVERTISING

Factories
No Man is
High and Low
Fortunate Few
Things are Known

AN EDITORIAL
ON ADVERTISING

The factories are reopening. Men are going back to their jobs again.

Building and buying soon will resume their normal activity.

Contentment will supplant unrest throughout the land.

All to a large degree because throughout this period of slackness and stagnation our force has remained hopelessly on the job.

Do you know what that force is? It is Advertising!

We will refrain from emphasizing, as we justly might, Advertising's direct services to the public in lowering the price of goods, maintaining quality among producers, and promoting correct, convenient, valuable buyer-knowledge.

We will overlook for the moment Advertising's powerful contribution as a sales factor to the individual success of the business that employs it.

These things are generally known and realized. They need no particular urging to arouse recognition in the public mind.

The great and outstanding fact for laymen and advertising men to grasp now is that Advertising, by its own demonstration, is a valuable and vital factor in the promotion of the whole national good.

No man is outside its sphere of influence. It embraces all and affects all.

The layman accustomed to look doubtfully or indifferently upon Advertising as an instrumentality solely for the benefit of the fortunate few, now suddenly sees it as a power intimately and inseparably linked with himself and his own interests.

This young and vigorous force has helped lift business back into the saddle, the worker back into his job.

Advertising has kept alive hope. It has shamed and shattered pessimism. It has encouraged industry, fostered the gradual recovery of the buying impulse, and at last created a firm market.

Now it will go forward to assist in the development of Good Business and in the restoration of satisfactory political and economic conditions throughout the country.

Every man, high or low, who looks out of a period of depression into a prosperous and progressive future, should have a surface knowledge at least of the force that has helped greatly to work the change, and thank Advertising.

You have realized how the editorial columns of newspapers have helped form public opinion. Think then of their advertising columns as great forces working for business prosperity.

SALVATION ARMY CAPTIVES FREED BY RUSS SOVIET

Officers Imprisoned in February
Finally Released Commander Booth Announces

NEW YORK.—Commander Evangeline Booth of the Salvation Army
Saturday announced receipt of a cable message from London headquarters announcing that all Salvation Army prisoners in Russia had been released by soviet authorities.

These prisoners, Commander Booth said, numbered about thirty-five officers, native Russians in charge of the organization's activities in Russia who were imprisoned last February.

Under the czar's regime, Commander Booth said, the salaried officers were prevented from leading meetings, their work being confined to selling a Russian "War Cry" on the streets. The soviet government, however, established complete religious liberty which again was restricted by the soviet authorities, she said.

She told of an occasion when Commander Booth was questioned by Leon Trozky regarding the salaried officers' political affiliations. When Commander Booth said, Commissioner Mapp declared that his organization was interested only in religion. Trozky made a gesture of disgust, adding: "That's worse; we want no religion here."

Question arose over the arrest of a 21-year-old boy in Milwaukee, who had been caught playing moonshine whiskey into drinks of gingerale served at the dance he was attending. Charge was made that he was guilty of transporting the liquor.

The attorney general, although asking that the court determine the point of law involved, says the boy would not be guilty unless it was found that he was carrying the bottle from one house to another.

LIQUOR ON THE HIP IS PERMITTED UNDER RULING OF MORGAN

MADISON, Wis.—A person caught with a bottle of liquor "on his hip" is not guilty of transportation of intoxicants and cannot be arrested under the Millerberg law, in the belief of the attorney general, unless he intends to deliver it at another place.

At a meeting of the La Crosse Labor Temple association Friday night in the Temple and Labor council rooms, several thousands of dollars worth of stock in the Yeoman hall temple was subscribed by union men.

The secretaries of several unions who were at the meeting took subscription blanks to distribute among the members of their respective unions. Officials of the association say the stock in the temple is gradually being taken up by La Crosse unionists and that in a few months a sufficient amount will be subscribed to cover the cost of the building.

"Elder Statesmen,"

of Jap in Yap

TOKIO.—(By the Associated Press.)—The diplomatic advisory council Friday approved the attitude of the cabinet on the mandate question after Viscount Tada, the foreign minister, had given an exposition of the government's viewpoint, according to newspaper reports.

Nothing official as to the nature of the council's decision has been given out, however.

Hope to Avert Crisis
In diplomatic circles here the impression prevails that every effort will be made to reach a settlement mutually satisfactory to the powers concerned.

The government, according to the Asahi Shimbun, is considering the advisability of appointing a special commission with this end in view.

Will Hold To Tiny Isle
A Tokyo dispatch of Wednesday quoted the Nichi Nichi as saying the cabinet on Tuesday had decided there was no reason to alter Japan's policy on the recent American note on the subject.

The decision of the cabinet, the newspaper said, would be reported Friday to the diplomatic advisory council at an extraordinary meeting of that body.

While the foreign office would neither affirm nor deny the Nichi Nichi's statement, the Tokyo newspapers of Thursday accepted it as accurate.

HAYWOOD TO TAKE POST UNDER SOVIET REGIME IS REPORT

Chosen by Lenin to Head Propaganda Bureau Says Federal Attorney

CHICAGO, Ill.—Federal officials Saturday said they had received information that Big Bill Haywood, I. W. W. chief who is believed to be in Russia, had gone to that country to become head of the propaganda bureau of the soviet government.

"We have information that Haywood was chosen for this work by Lenin after being recommended by certain radicals deported from the United States," said Charles F. Clyne, United States district attorney.

Haywood's time limit for reporting at the Leavenworth, Kan., penitentiary where he was scheduled to serve twenty years for obstructing war activities, expires Monday.

Mr. Clyne said he believed that two or three other members of the Industrial Workers of the World had accompanied Haywood to Russia and that they would return to this country "to flood it with Russian gold in the interest of the soviet government."

He said he was not surprised at the report that Haywood was to become a chief in the soviet government.

"He is especially fitted for propaganda work," said Mr. Clyne. "For he brought the membership of the I. W. W. up to 400,000 in this country and it has dwindled to 30,000 since he was convicted and consequently could not continue his organization work."

HARDING MAY ASK
NEW RAIL MEASURE

The same as last year. Under those conditions we do not see where a reduction in freight rates would benefit the power. This is because those who control the market will not pay any more than they are compelled to pay.

The former is back to almost pre-war conditions so far as concerns the price he gets for his wheat, but we are paying the war price for a loaf of bread.

toward the German cabinet because of the knowledge that it did not possess the united support of the country which is divided among the industrialists, the two socialist parties, the centrists and the liberals, with the Pan-German sects and the Stinnes group exerting powerful influence.

There is slight probability, according to official advisers reaching the allied governments, that these German political groups will be able to agree upon a repatriation policy.

French government authorities are understood to raise the question whether undertakings entered upon by the present German cabinet would be likely to be carried out by the one subsequently established.

Field Marshal Wilson and Marshall Foch, heads, respectively, of British and French armies, will not take part in the conversations between the two premiers. The French military position is clearly defined, but that government earnestly desires the nominal participation of Great Britain and Belgium.

See U. S. Help
LONDON.—Closer association in post-war problems between the United States and the allied nations is foreseen by the Liverpool Post in the exchange of notes between Washington and Berlin. In commenting upon the American reply to the German appeal to act as arbitrator of repatriation questions, the newspaper says:

"Mr. Harding's reply to Germany is regarded as a sign that the United States government is ready to abandon its attitude of aloofness to European affairs."

The Yorkshire Post of Leeds, says the last sentence of the American reply to Germany arouses the feeling that the "new American administration may be trying to open gently the door for a return to the allied council and this impression is strengthened by the hint received a few days ago that under certain circumstances the United States might send an observer to the next meeting of the supreme council."

"CUB" WOLVES ARE BROUGHT THROUGH CITY ON SATURDAY

A. C. Wright of Tomah, Finds
Den While Roaming Fields
of Illinois Homestead

One of the prettiest sights for sore eyes among the sportsmen that gathered at the Burlington depot Saturday morning was a pack of eight young gray timber wolves, the property of A. C. Wright, enroute to his home at Tomah.

Mr. Wright stated that he found the pack while roaming the fields of the old homestead near Ponton, Ill., while down there on a visit. The wolves are about three weeks old as near as can be estimated and are a set of husky youngsters.

P. J. Iverson, along with other sportsmen, was immediately summoned to the scene, and according to the reports one of the wolves was purchased by Mr. Iverson on sight. He stated that "one of them is coming back here to live." Asked what he intended to do with the pack, Mr. Wright declared that he wanted to keep them for awhile to "watch them grow up." He intends to communicate with the National Sportsman with regard to placing the wolves in a zoo.

Mr. Wright is actively associated with sports and the outdoors in Tomah sporting circles, being a member of the Tomah Rifle club which has appeared in competition with the local club on several occasions.

WONDERS OF CONSTRUCTION

In many ways the anatomical structure of insects is wonderful. They are gifted with muscles of extraordinary strength, and yet destitute of bones to which those muscles can be attached; the possessors of a circulatory system, and yet without a heart; they perform acts involving the exercise of certain mental qualities, and are without a brain. But, more remarkable still, they breathe atmospheric air without the aid of lungs. If we take any moderately large insect, say a wasp or a housefly, we can see, even with the naked eye, that a series of small spotlike marks run along either side of the body. These apparent spots, which are, in fact, the apertures through which the air is admitted into the system, are generally formed in such a manner that no extraneous matter can by any possibility find entrance.

NICK BARTL ACCEPTS MANAGERIAL POST OF BALL ASSOCIATION

CLUB ASSURED OF SUCCESS IN COMING SEASON

New Manager Has Been Actively Associated With Baseball Clubs in La Crosse for a Number of Years

PLAN TO SCHEDULE OPENER WITH MELROSE

Call Meeting for Wednesday Night to Elect Officers and Board of Directors of Club

With the acceptance by Nick Bartl, prominently identified in local baseball circles as a successful manager for the past twenty years, of the managerial position of the organization, the success of the La Crosse baseball association for the coming season is practically assured.

Veteran Manager

Mr. Bartl has been actively connected with baseball in the city for a large number of years and by virtue of his various successes in the management of the clubs representing this city, needs no introduction as he assumes the responsibilities of his new post with the recently organized ball club known as the La Crosse baseball association.

Plan Opener Here

While the entire list of officers for the organization has not as yet been elected, tentative arrangements for the immediate plans of the association with reference to a schedule, grounds, etc., were outlined at a meeting of the prospective members of the team held at Eagles' hall Friday night.

The organization is in receipt of two letters, one from Lansing and the other from Melrose, asking for dates with the local club. May 15 has been given to Lansing for a game in the local city, while May 22 will find the down-river team on the local diamond. It will be the attempt of the local management to secure a date with the Melrose aggregation for the opening game here on May 8.

"Must Hit the Ball"

In a short talk with the men at the Friday night meeting, manager Bartl released a few tips with regard to the proper attitude necessary on the part of the men in order that the team may be a success. Mr. Bartl featured in his talk the fact that the organization was going to be run without the slightest atom of partiality, declaring that "the man who isn't hitting the ball will not stick with the team." "The player who doesn't come up to the standard of the team will have to give way to a better man," he said, adding that this stand is the only one which would be fair to those business men and all fans and enthusiasts who have pledged their support financially to the success of the organization. Mr. Bartl related the rules regarding and carried out in the former organizations in the city which were termed a success, stating that the same regulations would necessarily mean success for the present La Crosse ball club.

Uniforms Arrive

It was announced at the meeting Friday night that the new uniforms had arrived and will be lettered and ready to wear at the practice to be held a week from Sunday. The uniforms are of a gray color with a blue stripe.

That the team may be given a rousing send-off on their initial appearance in the opening game on May 8, P. E. Gauthier, director of the city's band, has volunteered the services of the organization to lead the parade to the ball park. A real revival of the 17th baseball days in the city is planned by the association and with numerous other features tentatively planned in connection with the launching of the baseball ship in La Crosse, the grand opening here on May 8 is destined to be a huge success.

Meeting of Supporters

For the purpose of electing a president, other officers and a board of directors of the association, a meeting has been called for Wednesday night at the city hall of all those interested in the baseball movement in the city. Anyone who has been formerly connected with the sport here and those who have signed to support the organization are requested to be present at the meeting. It is of utmost importance that the proper officials be elected to serve on the staff of the organization and realizing this fact it behooves every business man and baseball enthusiast in the city to be present at the meeting.

BROOKLYN TAKES TWO IN SUCCESSION

Duplicate Thursday's Score of 4 to 2; Mitchell Hurls Snappy Game; One Forced Run

PIRATES WALLOP REDS IN FIFTH RUNNING CONTEST

Home Runs Scored by Smith and Kelly in Giants' Game

BROOKLYN.—Brooklyn won from Boston again Friday, duplicating Friday's 4 to 2 score. After the third inning, Mitchell did not allow a hit and only one man reached first. Mitchell's double scored Olson, who had tripped, and Giesinger forced in another run by hitting Konert with the bases full. Score: Brooklyn, 4; Boston, 2. Mitchell, 11.00 000—4; Boston, 1.00 000—2. Batteries: Giesinger and O'Neill; Mitchell and Miller.

Pirates, 6; Reds, 1

PITTSBURGH, Pa.—Pittsburgh defeated the Cincinnati team Friday for the fifth time in succession, 6 to 1. Zinn kept the visitors' hits well scattered, but he passed two men in the eighth which was followed by an infield hit, filling the bases. A wonderful play by Maraville then retired the side. Score: Pittsburgh, 6; Cincinnati, 1. Zinn, 11.00 000—6; Cincinnati, 1.00 000—1. Batteries: Laque and Wingo; Zinn and Schmidt.

Giants, 2; Phillies, 1

NEW YORK.—Home runs by Smith and Kelly, the latter's fourth of the season, decided a pitcher's duel between Barnes and Cushey here Friday. New York defeated Philadelphia, 2 to 1, in the second game of the series. After an error by Bancroft enabled Philadelphia to score in the first, Smith's home run tied it in the fifth. Kelly's four-base drive won the game in the seventh. Score: Philadelphia, 1.00 000—1; New York, 2.00 010—2. Batteries: Cushey and Dragg; Barnes and Schmidt.

BOWLING

The Madlers won two out of three games from the Vello Sweets at the Lotus alleys Friday night. Emil Horn did the feature rolling for the winners, driving for scores of 201, 212 and 176.

The Independents won three straight from the Rookies.

AMERICAN TENNIS UPSTART IN BRITISH FINALS SATURDAY

Botsford Defeats Fyze in the Semi-Finals of Championship Match in England

ROEHAMPTON, England.—W. H. Botsford, young American tennis star, defeated A. A. Fyze in the semi-final of the Surrey hard courts tennis championship match Friday, 6-0, 1-6, 6-2.

In the other semi-final match, F. C. Lowe of England beat B. I. C. Norton of South Africa in straight sets, 7-5, 7-5. Botsford now will meet Lowe for the championship.

The victory of Botsford furnishes him his first opportunity to appear in the final round of an English tennis championship.

In the first set of play against Fyze, who is a pocket edition of the Japanese player Zeno Shimidzu, with bursts of brilliant volleying Botsford scored a placement ace on virtually every ball at the net.

In the second set he elected to play a baseline game. Botsford in the third set was rather lucky on a line decision against Fyze, which gave him a vantage point at 7-0.

Fast Hurdlers Feature Penn Relay Carnival

PHILADELPHIA.—One of the fastest fields of hurdlers ever brought together in an American athletic event will meet in the 120 yards hurdle race at the University of Pennsylvania relay carnival next week. BABE RUTH GETS FOURTH CIRCUIT CLOUT FRIDAY

Athletics Defeat Yanks in Hitting and Win 11 to 4

CLEVELAND, Ohio.—Cleveland made it two straight from St. Louis Friday when it won 8 to 7.

The entire contest was played in rain, during the last three innings the field being so muddy that the pitchers floundered about and lost control.

Elmer Smith made his third home run of the season and just missed another by inches, the ball hitting on top of the right field screen and bounding back, netting him three bases. Score: St. Louis, 7; Cleveland, 8.

Batteries: Kelp, Palmero, Durwell and Severed; Hillings, Caldwell, Adenwald, Cile and O'Neill.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa.—Ruth

his fourth home run of the season here Friday, driving the ball into the last row of the left field bleachers, but Philadelphia outlast New York and won, 11 to 4. Rummel held the visitors to three singles besides Ruth's home run, which came after a pass to Peckinpaugh. Frank Baker, reinstated by Judge Landis Wednesday, made his first appearance in an American league game in several years. He batted for Ferguson in the ninth and rolled an easy grounder to second base. Score: R H E New York, 1.000 210 001—4 4 2 Philadelphia, 004 000 70x—11 13 3

Batteries: Hoyt, Ferguson and Schang; Rummel and Perkins.

RUTH AND KELLY REMAIN TIED IN HOME RUN RACE

CHICAGO.—The home run batting race between Babe Ruth of the New York Americans and George Kelly of the New York Nationals remained at a dead heat yesterday when each player pounded out his fourth circuit clout of the season.

Elmer Smith of Cleveland and Emil Meusel of the Philadelphia Nationals are only a step behind, with three home runs to their credit, while Bob Meusel, Emil's brother, of the New York Americans, has two. Several other players also have made two.

Ruth is far ahead of last year's schedule, as he did not make his fourth home run in 1920 until May 11. Kelly's home run total for 1920 was eleven. Ruth made fifty-four.
